

Mediterranean Marine Science

early view

New records of rarely reported species in the Mediterranean Sea (Early view) 2025

COLLECTIVE ARTICLE B

doi: 10.12681/mms.30420

To cite this article:

ARTICLE B, C. (2025). New records of rarely reported species in the Mediterranean Sea (Early view) 2025. Mediterranean Marine Science. <https://doi.org/10.12681/mms.30420>

New records of rarely reported species in the Mediterranean Sea

1) New records of four rare native decapods from the central Tyrrhenian Sea

Valentina TANDUO and Fabio CROSETTA

Accepted: 25.03.2025

2) Further nord! The thermophilic Ocypode cursor (Linnaeus, 1758) reaches Latium

Francesco TIRALONGO and Fabio RUSSO

Accepted: 25.03.2025

3) New data on the occurrence of Cumanotus beaumonti (Eliot, 1906) in the northern Adriatic Sea

Borut MAVRIČ and Lovrenc LIPEJ

Accepted: 28.03.2025

4) First record of the circumglobal planktonic snail Creseis acicula (Pteropoda, Creseidae) in Libyan waters

Jamila RIZGALLA

Accepted: 23.04.2025

5) New record of Gymnothorax unicolor (Delaroche, 1809) in Maltese waters

Daryl AGIUS and Luca PISANI

Accepted: 23.04.2025

6) The "moving shadow": first Italian sightings of the deep-sea bryozoan Kinetoskias smitti Daniellsen, 1868

Margherita TOMA and Marzia BO

Accepted: 06.05.2025

7) First record of Anoplodactylus massiliensis Bouvier, 1916 in the Strait of Sicily

Tommaso DELLI CARRI and Loris GALLI

Accepted: 02.06.2025

8) Spatio-temporal distribution of Gryphus vitreus (Born, 1773) (Brachiopoda) in the Bathyal Zone of Antalya Bay (Eastern Mediterranean)

Mehmet Cengiz DEVAL

Accepted: 16.06.2025

Early View